

Total Rewards Guide 2025

PennState Health

Message to Our Employees

At Penn State Health, you take care of our patients, while we take care of you. That's why we offer more than benefits – we offer Total Rewards. We aim to attract and retain the best talent in our industry by ensuring our employees are highly engaged and well-supported, committed to fulfilling our mission. That is how we will achieve our goal to be the most trusted health care organization in Pennsylvania.

Our compensation and benefit programs reflect our commitment to remain market competitive.

We realize that our employees have a choice of where to work, and we ensure that what we offer is highly competitive within the health care market. Programs and individual pay levels will always reflect differences in job responsibilities, geographies, marketplace considerations and individual performance, but the overall structure of our Total Rewards Program is consistent across the organization.

Team members are recognized for their outstanding achievements and positive impact on Penn State Health.

The Penn State Health Total Rewards Program extends far beyond just your salary. We offer a range of benefits thoughtfully crafted to recognize exceptional performance, ensure financial stability, and help you lead a more fulfilling and engaged life. The benefits and services that we offer support both our employees and their families. We want our employees to: BeWell, BeSecure, BeRewarded, BeBalanced and BeSupported throughout their careers at Penn State Health. Our Total Rewards strategy is reviewed regularly, with a goal to achieve not just good practice, but best practice.

Penn State Health acknowledges that rising costs can affect individuals and families. We want to assure you that we remain committed to addressing these expenses with care and responsibility. Penn State Health has worked hard to limit the impact of these changes, striving to keep our benefits as affordable and comprehensive as possible.

Penn State Health's costs associated with our medical and prescription drug plans have increased more than $19.5M for the 2025 plan year, and Penn State Health has made the decision to absorb the majority of this increase on our employees' behalf. Therefore, you will see a slight increase in your plan rates in the new plan year.

What this means to you:

- Adjustment on Your Paycheck: Although rates are rising, we've worked hard to ensure the adjustments are kept to a small scale. We remain dedicated to offering competitive benefits that continue to deliver excellent value for you and your family.
- Quality of Care Remains a Priority: Even with rising costs, there are no changes to the quality of our health, dental, and vision plans. You will still have access to exceptional coverage options and services.
- Continued Employer Support: Penn State Health will continue to carry a significant portion of the overall cost, as we believe in providing strong support for your health and well-being.

We understand that rising costs can be challenging, and we want to assure you that we are working diligently to keep our benefits as affordable as possible while still maintaining the high quality of coverage you deserve. Our goal is to continue offering a robust benefits package that supports you and your family well into the future.

Spousal Surcharge

Penn State Health will assess a $38.46 biweekly surcharge if your spouse has access to employer-sponsored health care and chooses to waive that coverage for coverage under Penn State Health's medical plan.

The surcharge will not apply if one of the following applies and the spouse's employer completes page 2 of the spousal surcharge form. The Spousal Surcharge form can be found by searching spousal surcharge on mySolutions.

- Your spouse enrolls in their employer's coverage but would like to elect Penn State Health benefits as a secondary insurance.
- Your spouse is offered insurance and must pay 100% of the premium.
- Your spouse is not offered or is not eligible for insurance through their employer.

Penn State Health will not assess a surcharge if one of the following applies:

- Your spouse is a Penn State Health employee.
- Your spouse does not work or is self-employed.
- Your spouse is enrolled in TRICARE for LIFE* or Medicare.

*Per TRICARE's guidelines, if your spouse is active duty military, they cannot use other insurance coverage.

Benefits Termination

Benefits will end on the employee's termination date or the last date the employee is in a benefit-eligible position. For all active benefit-eligible employees who have covered dependents turning age 26, the dependent's coverage will continue to the last day of the month in which they turn 26.

Qualifying Life Event

During a plan year, life can change. The benefit elections may need to be modified as changes occur. IRS regulations prohibit employee benefit changes during the year (outside of open enrollment) unless changes are made within 31 days of certain qualifying life events. Eligible qualifying life events include:

- Employee's marital status changes due to marriage, divorce or death of a spouse.
- A change in the number of dependents an employee covers due to birth, legal adoption, a Qualified Medical Support Court Order or death.
- Changes in employment status, such as moving from full- to part-time or part- to full-time employment, or beginning or returning from an unpaid leave of absence.
- A change in Medicare status.
- Changes in employment status of a spouse, which can include the ending of their employment, new or different working hours resulting in a change of their employer-sponsored benefits, a benefit change due to a change in work hours, or if they begin or return from an unpaid leave of absence resulting in a change of benefits.
- A dependent who becomes ineligible for the benefit plan due to age, student status or by obtaining coverage by other means.

If one of these events occurs, you must complete the appropriate life event through Global Human Resources (GHR), and provide the necessary documentation within 31 days of the event in order for benefit changes to be effective. Changes as a result of a qualifying life event will be effective the day the event occurred. When a life event occurs, you are only eligible to change benefits that are correlated to the event. For example, if you add a newborn to benefits, you would not be allowed to enroll in spousal life insurance. When completing the enrollment, you will only be shown the benefits you are eligible to elect.

For more information on qualifying life events and how to change your benefit elections, go to mySolutions and search qualifying life event and/or enrollment.

Necessary Documentation for Qualifying Life Events

Employees must provide proper documentation for a qualifying life event to be effective. If you experience a qualifying life event, the documentation below must be attached when you submit your benefit changes.

QUALIFYING LIFE EVENT	REQUIRED DOCUMENTATION
Birth	A copy of the birth certificate
Guardianship	Legal documentation showing court-appointed custody
Marriage	A copy of the marriage certificate
Divorce	A copy of the divorce decree
Death of a Dependent	A copy of your dependent's death certificate
Gain or Loss of Other Benefits (For Employees or Dependents)	A letter (on company letterhead) from the spouse/dependent employer, a letter from a previous insurance provider or a copy of the COBRA notification from a previous employer. The letter must state the effective date of the change, which coverage was gained or lost and which dependents were affected.
Medicare Enrollment	A copy of the employee's or spouse's Medicare card with the effective date of coverage

Annual Open Enrollment

Each year, Penn State Health holds an annual benefits open enrollment. During this time, employees have the opportunity to make benefit election changes without experiencing a qualifying life event. If you enroll a new dependent to your plan during open enrollment, you must provide the required documentation from the "Dependent Verification" section on pages 8 and 9 of this booklet. Due to IRS regulations, employees who wish to participate in a flexible spending account must make an election during each open enrollment.

Helpful Definitions

A list of helpful benefit definitions can be found on mySolutions by searching Helpful Definitions or visiting the Benefits booth in the Virtual Benefits Center.

Medical & Prescription Plan Benefits

Penn State Health offers three plans: two Preferred Provider Organizations (PPO) and one High Deductible Health Plan (HDHP), to meet your needs. These three plans offer the same three levels of coverage: Home, In-Network, and Out-Of Network. The Home network of providers consists of Penn State Health providers where employees receive the highest level of coverage. In-Network includes providers that participate with Highmark, where employees receive a high level of coverage. If a provider does not participate with Highmark, the Out-Of-Network level of coverage will apply.

For a list of Highmark In-Network providers, log on to myhighmark.com and select or download the My Highmark app, select 'Get Care', select 'Go to provider search' and search by category, provider name, specialty or condition. The employee out-of-pocket costs reflected below are for Home Network (Penn State Health providers) and Highmark In-Network providers. Information regarding Out-Of-Network costs can be found through mySolutions by searching Highmark or by visiting the Virtual Benefits Center.

HDHP Select Plan

Penn State Health is introducing a new medical/prescription drug plan – HDHP Select – for Jan. 1, 2025. Penn State Health will contribute funds to employee's HSA accounts on a quarterly basis. Refer to page 28 for more information.

With the HDHP Select plan all services, including prescriptions, will require you to pay the full cost of services until you meet the plan deductible requirement. Once the deductible has been met, you will pay coinsurance up to the out-of-pocket maximum. Refer to page 17 for more information about prescription coverage. Preventative services are covered at 100% with no deductible. Visit the Virtual Benefits Center Highmark booth for the full preventive schedule.

Rx Savings Solutions

Starting Jan. 1, 2025, Penn State Health is offering Rx Savings Solutions (RxSS) to help you manage the rising cost of prescription drugs. This free and confidential service will connect with your Highmark health plan to show you all the lower-cost options you have for your medications. All employees enrolled in a Penn State Health medical and prescription plan through Highmark, are eligible to participate in this program. RxSS doesn't replace your prescription plan; it's an additional program designed to help you, and your family save money.

How it works:

1. RxSS will confidentially review the medications you and your family members enrolled in the Penn State Highmark Plan use and find other options that may save you money.
2. Your RxSS online account will show which lower-cost prescriptions are available and allows you to make a price comparison. Your account will also display a full list of any medications you've filled so everything's in one place. It's like having your pharmacist right by your side.
3. You can switch to a lower-cost prescription option with ease. RxSS will even consult with your provider to get their approval on any changes and take care of all the other details—no effort is required from you.
4. RxSS may contact you at any time, through email and/or direct mail, if a savings opportunity is available to you.

Below are a few ways you might be able to save money with RxSS:

- Generic forms of name-brand drugs
- Alternative pricing available at eligible participating pharmacies for acute medications
- Equally effective medications that treat the same condition but cost less than your current prescription

Health Savings Accounts (HSA)

If you choose the HDHP Select plan, you will be provided with a Health Savings Account (HSA) administered by Highmark. You will automatically receive a debit card for easy access to funds. Penn State Health will make contributions to your HSA based on your salary, as detailed in the chart below.

Penn State Health Contributions

Contributions from Penn State Health will be made within the first full week of every quarter of which you are enrolled in the HDHP Select plan (Jan., April, July, Oct.). The chart below displays the annual HSA contributions by Penn State Health based on your salary.

EMPLOYMENT STATUS	FULL-TIME	FULL-TIME	FULL-TIME	FULL-TIME	PART-TIME	PART-TIME

Employee + Family	$1,400	$800	$400	$400	$800	$400

Employee Contributions

In addition to the Penn State Health contributions, you have the option to contribute pre-tax funds through payroll deductions, subject to annual IRS limits. For 2025, the combined IRS limits for both the employer and employee contributions are:

- Individual: $4,300
- Family: $8,550

If you are over the age of 55, you can make an additional pre-tax contribution of up to $1,000 per year.

Advantages of an HSA

The funds in your HSA can be used to pay for expenses such as your annual deductible, coinsurance, and other out-of-pocket medical costs, including dental & vision cost. (Ex. Lasik eye surgery, Orthodontia, etc.)

HSA's have a triple tax advantage:

1. Money goes in tax-free
2. Money comes out tax-free
3. Earn interest, tax-free

Any unused HSA funds at the end of the year will automatically roll over to the following year. By managing your medical expenses, you can grow your HSA account each year to use in the future, including during retirement, as you own the account and the funds in it.

For more information about HSA, including a HDHP Select FAQ, visit the Virtual Benefits Center.

Flexible Spending Accounts

Flexible spending accounts (FSAs) allow employees to pay for eligible health care and dependent day care expenses using tax-advantaged funds. The contributions you elect are deducted from your paycheck on a pre-tax basis, which means they reduce your taxable income so you pay less in taxes. Employees who elect a flexible spending account will receive two debit cards from our administrator, WEX, that they can use toward eligible expenses. For more information, go to mySolutions and search flexible spending account.

IRS guidelines require FSA participants to enroll in the flexible spending account(s) each year in order to continue participation.

For a full list of services covered under FSAs, go to wexinc.com/insights/benefits-toolkit/eligible-expenses.

Health Care Flexible Spending Account

The Health Care FSA allows employees to set aside pre-tax dollars to pay for IRS-eligible expenses, such as medical, prescription, dental, hearing or vision care, that are not covered by insurance. Employees and/or any of their eligible dependents can incur eligible expenses. Dependents do not have to be enrolled in a Penn State Health medical plan in order to use Health Care FSA funds. Employees are eligible to contribute between $130 and $3,200 annually.

Note: You cannot have a Health Care FSA if you are enrolled in the HDHP Select plan and you cannot use FSA funds to pay for employee contributions.

Dependent Care Flexible Spending Account

A Dependent Care Flexible Spending Account allows employees to set aside pre-tax dollars to pay for eligible dependent services, such as preschool, summer day camp, before- or after- school programs, and child or adult daycare. Eligible dependents do not have to be enrolled in a Penn State Health medical plan to use FSA funds. This is a separate account and separate election from the Health Care FSA. Employees are eligible to contribute between $130 and $5,000 annually.

Eligible dependents include:

- Child(ren) under age 13 who qualify as a dependent for federal income tax purposes
- An individual of any age who is mentally or physically incapable of caring for themselves and is dependent on you for support, whom you claim as a dependent on your federal income tax return

For details on processing flexible spending accounts, the grace period for submitting receipts and dependent care FSA nondiscrimination testing, search flexible spending account on mySolutions.

"Use It or Lose It" Rule

Employees enrolled in the Health Care FSA are able to roll over up to $640 to be used in the next calendar year. However, any other funds will be forfeited. Employees enrolled in the Dependent Care FSA will forfeit any unused money remaining in the account at the end of the plan year or after termination of the benefit. Employees should plan carefully to ensure that all funds in the account are used.

Eligibility

All eligible Penn State Health employees can make voluntary contributions (above the 5% required contribution). Penn State Health employees designated as an HCE (Highly Compensated Employee) based on prior calendar year earnings, must direct voluntary contributions to the 403(b).

Residents, PRNs, interns, and externs are not eligible to participate in the 401(k) plan or receive employer retirement contributions. These employees may make voluntary contributions into the Penn State Health Tax Sheltered Annuity (403(b)) plan.

Your Contributions

Required

A required 5% of employee earnings is contributed automatically to the 401(k) for all eligible employees.

Voluntary

All eligible employees may choose to participate even further by making voluntary contributions to their PSH 401(k) or 403(b) plans. For 2025, employees can make traditional pre-tax or Roth contributions up to 75% of compensation or $23,500, whichever is less. Employees turning age 50 or older in 2025 can contribute an additional $7,500. Employees turning ages 60, 61, 62, or 63 in 2025 can contribute an additional $11,250. The IRS limit is the total amount you can contribute between both the PSH 403(b) plan and the PSH 401(k) plan (if eligible). However, keep in mind that the employer contribution and the employee required 5% contribution that go into the PSH 401(k) plan don't count toward the IRS limit.

Employer Contributions

The employer contribution is 5% up to the Social Security wage base, then 10% up to the maximum IRS deferred compensation limit. This contribution is made to the 401(k) plan. All employees will have a one-year waiting period from their first day of employment before receiving the employer contribution.

Long-Term Disability

Full-time employees are provided long-term disability insurance. Long-term disability coverage is designed to provide salary replacement for any lengthy disability that continues for more than 180 days, regardless of where the accident or illness occurs. Note: Full-time employees cannot waive long-term disability benefits.

Full-time Employees

Disability is based on an employee's inability to perform duties of their own occupation for the first 24 months of disability. Employees are offered an additional buy-up option of 66⅔% for the long-term disability benefit, in which employees are responsible for the cost of the additional 6⅔%.

Full-time Physicians

Disability is based on a physician's inability to perform all of the material duties of their regular occupation until the age defined by the Social Security Normal Retirement Age. "Regular occupation" is defined as specialty or subspecialty in the practice of medicine that the physician practiced immediately prior to the commencement of total disability. Physicians are provided employer-paid 66⅔% long-term disability benefits. Physicians may choose to elect a lower level of benefit of 50% or 60% with no associated credit.

Pre-existing Condition Limitation

Upon approval, benefit payments start the first day following six months of continuous disability. The minimum monthly benefit is the greater of $100 or 10% gross monthly benefit amount. The maximum monthly benefit that an employee can receive is $15,000. The paid benefit will be reduced by any other benefits that the employee may receive from workers' compensation, Social Security or other disability benefits. A pre-existing condition limitation applies to newly hired or recently eligible employees. For more details, search long-term disability on mySolutions.

Voluntary Benefits

Voluntary benefits are administered through Securian. Penn State Health offers three voluntary benefit plans: critical illness, group accident and hospital indemnity. Visit Securian's dedicated Penn State Health voluntary website at securian.com/penn-state-health-insurance to review all details of the voluntary benefit plans. To assist you with choosing your voluntary insurance with confidence, the decision-support tool, Benefit Scout, is available.

Critical Illness Insurance

Critical illness insurance provides a lump-sum cash payment after diagnosis of a covered critical illness, such as heart attack or cancer, to help supplement your health insurance. Critical illness insurance helps you focus on your recovery and treatment, rather than your finances, when you are diagnosed with a serious illness. It complements your health insurance and provides additional financial protection for you and your family to use as you wish when it's needed the most.

Group Accident Insurance

Accident insurance provides a lump sum cash payment after an accident to supplement your health insurance. It's a smart, cost-effective way to help with the expenses above and beyond what your health insurance plan already covers, giving you the flexibility to spend the money on things such as medical bills, health care deductibles, groceries, loss of income, travel expenses or a dog sitter.

You and your enrolled dependents are eligible for a $50 health and wellness payment each year when you are enrolled in the critical illness and/or group accident insurance.

Scan for more information.

Hospital Indemnity Insurance

Hospitalization is a lot more common than you may realize. When it happens, it can be costly. Hospital indemnity insurance provides a predetermined daily benefit amount while the insured is in the hospital. There are two different hospital indemnity plans, so you can pick the best plan for you and your family. The benefit can be used to help pay out-of-pocket and non-covered costs, plus additional living expenses. This benefit does provide pregnancy coverage.

Compensation, Rewards and Recognition

Base Compensation

Our compensation programs provide a competitive, market-based approach that recognizes employee contributions while advancing the organization's goals and ensuring financial viability and employee engagement. We offer our employees competitive salaries to attract, retain and motivate. We base our compensation on a thorough check of the market that is reviewed regularly. Performing at a high level can result in more pay through our merit-based system.

Pay-for-Performance Culture

Penn State Health promotes a pay-for-performance culture in the form of merit pay. Merit pay:

- Is based on the employee's performance for a given review year
- Is typically processed in the fall time frame after the performance review process ends
- Applies to non-bargained, non-physician staff

Market Competitiveness

Penn State Health is committed to managing a robust competitive market review process. We invest in compensation surveys to ensure we are paying our employees in a competitive manner. Jobs are carefully matched, and each component of the total compensation package is assessed to determine our position vs. the market. These market reviews are critical to ensuring we attract and retain our employees. Market pricing provides a consistent process to evaluate Penn State Health jobs based on a common evaluation methodology and criteria to align job components, which include:

- Skills, experience and education
- Complexity of duties, latitude and supervisory responsibilities
- External market conditions
- Comparisons to similar jobs across the company (internal equity)
- Equal opportunity and Fair Labor Standards Act status

This process allows Penn State Health to more precisely align our pay practices with the market at the individual job level and attract and retain the right talent.

PAWS UP! Employee Recognition

We all like to feel appreciated for doing a great job. Our employees' accomplishments* are recognized through our rewards and recognition program, PAWS UP! This program was designed for peers to recognize and encourage one another, and for managers to distribute awards when their employees exemplify our RITE values of Respect, Integrity, Teamwork and Excellence. We also celebrate career milestones through this program, to thank our employees for continuing to be a part of the important work we do. Head over to pawsup.werecognize.com for more information.

Total Rewards Statement

Penn State Health's Total Rewards Statements give a real-time, personalized and comprehensive "full picture" of an employee's compensation, benefits and total rewards provided by the health system. Total rewards go beyond the paycheck. Noncompensatory benefits are carefully designed to recognize strong performance and provide tools to enhance the employee's well-being and financial life. The Total Rewards Statement Toolkit, found in mySolutions, provides resources to access and understand the statement, answers to frequently asked questions and more.

This leave is for the employee's own personal illness and is not intended to be used to care for a family member. An employee may be eligible for post-FMLA leave for a period of time up to one year, which includes the 12 weeks of FMLA. This leave is not job protected and the manager may fill the employee's position. Post FMLA is for continuous leaves only and must be medically certified by the employee's treating physician. Post FMLA is managed by AbsenceOne.

Personal Leaves of Absence

A medical leave of absence may be granted for those employees who require a leave of absence due to a medical necessity and are not eligible for and/or do not qualify for FMLA. This leave is for the employee's own medical condition. Employees must submit a request for a medical personal leave of absence, to their direct supervisor and AbsenceOne. Management and AbsenceOne review and approve the request, which is subject to the operational needs of the organization. The length of this continuous leave is 45 days, and employees must use all paid time before going into an unpaid status. A medical personal leave of absence can only be granted once per rolling calendar year.

Educational

An educational leave of absence may be requested by full-time employees for an extended absence from work due to educational purposes. Employees must submit a request for an educational personal leave of absence, to their direct supervisor. Management reviews and approves the request, which is subject to the operational needs of the organization. This continuous leave may be extended a year at a time for up to two additional years, with a three-year maximum if the educational program is related to employment with Penn State Health. The employee's position will be held for 45 days. Employees must use all of their accrued time off before going into an unpaid status. An educational leave of absence may only be granted once per rolling calendar year.

The length of this continuous leave is 45 days, and employees must use all paid time before going into an unpaid status. A personal "other" leave of absence may only be granted once per rolling calendar year.
